We use SimulationCraft because simulators permit a high degree of control by allowing us to use specific talents, rotations, gear, possible boss mechanics, etc.. Why? There are any number of reasons why in-game results will differ from simulated (or log based) results.. to arrive at repeatable results that can be compared across specs and time Also, simulators allow us to average out results from thousands of fights to get a feel for how a spec performs all of the time and not in one amazing fight.
